This is the basis for the resulting L^AT_EXfile. Everyone should write 2 to 4 pages on an assigned topic, and finally push it to this repository, to create a handbook on various tools for distributed project and software management.

The document should be structured into an introduction, a section for each topic group (e.g. versioning systems, issue trackers, forums and wikis. In each of these sections, subsections have to contain the contributions of the single students.
